

Travelers Rest Resort, Inc.

2011 Summer Updates May

We start the summer update on a very sad note with the passing of John Hodge.

If ever there was an iconic representation in the embodiment of a person living the true spirit of Traveler Rest Resort, that icon has to be John Hodge.

A great man who gave of himself to the place he loved to be at is so ingrained into the work he did at TR, we will always be reminded of his presence. We miss him.

On Wed April 13, a golf cart parade in John's honor assembled on the Golf course.

A beautiful day on a beautiful golf course with beautiful people honoring a beautiful man. It was very touching and a real outpouring of affection that was done in typical TR style. What a great place this truly is.

The parade stopped at many points along the way to show and explain the contributions that John had done over the years and narrated by Joan McLean who gave a great presentation.

The beautifications to the landscape, the plantings, the little touches here and there that made the Golf course such an outstanding gem.

A memorial service will be held next season at a time to be determined.

Another season has slipped by and we were off to a very wet spring. The end of March gave us just under 11 inches of rain within a 24 hour period of time. It did recharge all the lakes and ponds and greened up everything.

Some of the projects that were and are being done include the patching of the streets in RV South. The street patching must be done before we can repave which we will do as soon as possible.

Patch work marked for repairs corner of 17th and 3rd.

Volunteers also reworked the chipping green by removing the grass, and adjusting the approach.

Another longtime friend and resident stopped by for a visit recently. Mary McDaniels returned to TR to visit some of the old gang and have lunch.

Don and Mary were both wonderful people who also gave many years of unselfish volunteerism to Travelers Rest Resort.

Mary gave one of her paper art pictures to the office and we were most happy to receive it and place it on the wall.

Mary has made the decision not to drive herself any longer, anyone visiting in Lakeland or just wanting something to do, drop by and say hi to Marry.

A change that was made by the board of directors at the last board meeting was to restructure the compliance duties.

Prior to this time the compliance office had been done by a year round resident. Ron Tremblay served for 3 years, followed by Bob Gutshall. Both did a great job and have the thanks of the board of directors and management for their efforts and dedication to the resort.

Since the passing of the proposed resolution to the Bylaws at the annual meeting, that passage also entitled the board to put some stronger language into policy dealing with compliance issues.

With that in mind it was felt that an employee of the resort should be administering the compliance duties and effective August 01, 2011 Mike Vaughn will be the compliance officer.

Mike's duties will be to handle the various issues of compliance and bring to the attention of anyone in violation what the violation is and offer corrective solutions. Mike will be tightening up on the compliance issues that before were difficult to administer and will brief management and the board as to what polices need to be revisited for more explicit definitions and clarifications.

Additionally, the board passed new policies that allow TR to issue fines for repeat violations if not resolved in a reasonable time frame.

New policies N2045 and N2050 outline the Compliance Committee and procedures for enforcement of the rules and regulations concerning the schedule of fines and schedule of suspension of resort amenities/activities.

The policies currently are on display for viewing in the post office lobby and are available in the office. They will also be included in the annual lease agreements.

A new "POSTINGS FROM THE BOARD" bulletin board has been placed on the wall for special information the board would like to share with everyone.

On occasion statements either written or verbalized made by the board are somewhat altered from the intent and or actual verbiage used and this venue will allow postings to be given in an un-sanitized format.

As soon as information or decisions are made by the board which they wish to make public will be posted here.

Hope everyone is enjoying the summer be careful and drive safe in all your travels.
